DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1 and 7 are objected to because of the following informalities: .

In claim 1, line 1, after “shaft”, the punctuation should be changed to a colon or semicolon.

Claim 7 recites the limitation “the lumen” in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Kaneka Medics (JP 11-047183; hereinafter “Kaneka”).

Kaneka discloses a punctual plug (31) comprising:

a shaft (35, 41); a brim (37) and a tip portion (36) attached to both ends of said shaft (35, 41), wherein a thin member (33) is attached to at least one out of the shaft (35, 41), the brim (37) and the tip portion (36) and is capable of pulling out the brim (37) lodged inside a lacrimal duct (see figures 2 & 4, infra).

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 2, 4, 9 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kaneka.

Kaneka does not expressly disclose the specifically claimed dimensions. Mere changes in size are not sufficient to patentably distinguish the device over the prior art. See Gardner v. TEC Systems, Inc., 725 F.2d 1338, 220 USPQ 777 (Fed. Cir. 1984), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 830, 225 USPQ 232 (1984), the Federal Circuit held that, where the only difference between the prior art and the claims was a recitation of relative dimensions of the claimed device and a device having the claimed relative dimensions would not perform differently than the prior art device, the claimed device was not patentably distinct from the prior art device. MPEP § 1244.04 IV A.

4. Claims 3, 5-8, 10-12 and 14-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eagle Vision Incorporated (JP 2002-529144 A; hereinafter “Eagle Vision”).

Regarding claims 3 and 8, Kaneka does not disclose expressly that the diameter of the brim is smaller than the maximum value of the tip portion.

Eagle Vision teaches a punctual plug having a disc shaped brim (702) and has a diameter far smaller than the widest point of the tip (711)(see fig. 14, infra).

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to select the shape of Eagle Vision for use in the punctual plug of Kaneka in order to provide a shape that is known in the art to be suitable for that purpose. MPEP § 2144.07.

Where a claimed improvement on a device or apparatus is no more than "the simple substitution of one known element for another or the mere application of a known technique to a piece of prior art ready for improvement," the claim is unpatentable under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a). Ex Parte Smith, 83 USPQ.2d 1509, 1518-19 (BPAI, 2007)(citing KSR v. Teleflex, 127 S.Ct. 1727, 1740, 82 USPQ2d 1385, 1396 (2007)). Accordingly, Applicant claims a combination that only unites old elements with no change in the respective functions of those old elements, and the combination of those elements yields predictable results; absent persuasive evidence that the modifications necessary to effect the combination of elements is uniquely challenging or difficult for one of ordinary skill in the art, the claim is unpatentable as obvious under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a). Ex Parte Smith, 83 USPQ.2d at 1518-19 (BPAI, 2007)(citing KSR, 127 S.Ct. at 1740, 82 USPQ2d at 1396). Accordingly, since the applicant[s] have submitted no persuasive evidence that the combination of the above elements is uniquely challenging or difficult for one of ordinary skill in the art, the claim is unpatentable as obvious under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) because it is no more than the predictable use of prior art elements according to their established functions resulting in the simple substitution of one known element for another or the mere application of a known technique to a piece of prior art ready for improvement.

Regarding claims 5 and 10-12, Eagle Vision discloses a protuberance (710) on tip portion (709).

Regarding claim 7 and 14-18, Eagle Vision teaches that the brim (702), the shaft (704) and the tip (706) are reinforced at the thickened juncture between the shaft (704) and each of the brim (702) and tip (706)(see annotated fig. 15, infra).

Regarding claims 6 and 18, see the discussion of claims 2, 4, 9 and 13, supra.
